Grateful to be at Home

“WE LAUGH ALL THE TIME!”

- Joan Bucklin, New London

Joan Bucklin of New London and Pat Glidden, LNA, one of several staff who assist Joan in her home, have a very special bond. “We laugh all the time. I really look forward to our visits” says Joan, a retired attorney who was instrumental in the founding of the VNA’s hospice program in 1990. “We have gotten to know each other’s habits and are very comfortable around one other. We have our favorite lunch places, and I get out almost every day. I know that staying active is keeping me healthier” says Joan. That level of comfort is critical to quality care and to the client’s sense of security. “Scheduling in-home visits in our vast service area is challenging, and although we can’t guarantee the same caregiver will make all the visits to a particular client, we strive for this consistency as much as possible” says Kathy Labbe, Director of Long Term Care. Pat and Joan joke about the day Pat forgot about daylight savings time and arrived at Joan’s home an hour early. Pat was concerned that Joan wasn’t there to greet her until she realized her error and found Joan still sound asleep! “Knowing that someone is going to visit brings enormous comfort to the client and their family” says Kathy Labbe. Joan knows the VNA well, having also received skilled nursing care and physical therapy after hip replacement surgery last year. “Once a person has gotten one service from the VNA, it is so much easier to transition to a different level of care because we already know you” says Kathy Labbe. Having lived in her New London home since 1972, Joan has no plans to live anywhere else. The VNA considers it a privilege to make this possible for people like Joan.

President's Message

As a community-based organization, one of our primary responsibilities at Lake Sunapee Region VNA is to continually gather information about what services and programs residents of our community need. By 2020, the New Hampshire population over 65 is expected to grow 177%. One in four households is involved in care giving to persons aged 50 and up. Sixty-four percent of caregivers of the elderly are employed and spend an average of 18-40 hours per month caregiving.

Andrea Steel

According to a 2004 AARP study, the number one concern of seniors is how to stay in their own homes. They recognize that they will have to make changes in order to continue to do so. Personal support services will be the primary need, with skilled home health care needed for short intervals.

When you choose home health, hospice or personal support services your choice should be made based on how care is coordinated, the information and education provided, the emotional support given, the involvement of family, and the respect for your preferences. We are adding new personal support services each year ranging from telehomecare for managing illness to bed, bath and breakfast services.

We value the opportunity and privilege to care for you and your loved ones. Our pledge to you is to provide the kind of care we would give our own family members, and to use the feedback we get from you to continually improve.

Anyone can make a referral. We will do an evaluation at no charge and help you determine a plan to keep you or your loved one safe and secure at home. It's comforting to know you have a choice.

HOSPICE VOLUNTEERS...

...the many gifts they bring

More than 30 hospice volunteers, all of whom complete an in-depth, 12-week training, enrich the lives of hospice patients every day. These extraordinary individuals contribute more than 750 hours each year providing direct care to patients and drive more than 2,000 miles to do so. Whether it be in the home, nursing home or hospital setting, these volunteers are able to devote the time not always available to staff. Volunteer visits can last anywhere from 15 minutes to several hours and involve almost any activity - reading, listening to music, talking, playing games, organizing photographs, going out to lunch or dinner – and more. “Our volunteers are very skilled in communication and have the time to listen, talk and reminisce with patients, critical parts of the hospice patient’s journey” says Meg Ames, Volunteer and Bereavement Coordinator. Volunteers can rekindle the interest patients enjoyed in their lives but may have lost touch with, such as gardening, antiques, music, history or anything of meaning to the patient. This reinforces the VNA philosophy that hospice is ‘about how you live’, however long that may be. One volunteer brought tactile items to a patient who was blind, evoking memories by touching items such as a silk scarf, a feather and a pine cone. Volunteers also help to care for the caregivers by providing respite to family members and others. Their invaluable gifts support the entire family, and many volunteers stay in touch with family members after the death of the patient because the bonds are so strong. ### ASSISTED LIVING AT HOME... Challenge us with your needs!

With a goal to keep people safely in their own home for as long as possible, assisted living at home services are making that possible for more and more people. “Each person’s situation is unique, so we strive to create a package of services to fit those personal needs” says Kathy Labbe. Homemakers help with errands, light housekeeping, meal preparation, pet care, laundry, ironing, shopping, and even organizing photographs. “We have also recently hired and specially trained PCSPs (Personal Care Service Providers)” says Labbe. Like LNA’s, they can give hands-on care, but at a more affordable rate for clients who can direct their own care. At a time when the population of New Hampshire is aging at an extraordinary rate, the demand for services in the home is also expected to grow dramatically. “We are taking steps every day to help ensure these services are available for our community” says Labbe.

For information about services and payment options, contact Kathy Labbe at 603- 526-4077 or at klabbe@lakesunapeevna.org.
